

THE SOCIAL LAB : INNOVATING FOR SUSTAINABILITY

As part of its voluntary cooperation programme (project PRIDE), the International Bureau for Children's Rights (IBCR) has created a Social Laboratory. This collaborative space brings together child protection actors and allows them to exchange on common issues. Together, they develop new approaches and innovative solutions in order to advance child protection and ensure that children's rights are respected in all circumstances.

This innovative space is intended to support any person, organisation or institution wishing to drive change in child protection at a local, regional or international level. Through a participatory and inclusive process, it seeks to create a real community around shared issues.

PROMOTING the expertise and experience of countries and partner organisations and institutions

CREATING a community of practice to foster potential synergies between child protection stakeholders

IDENTIFYING good practices that can improve the respect and protection of children's rights

A SOCIAL LAB FOR:

EXPERIMENTING, jointly developing and implementing innovative solutions, with a collaborative approach

CREATING AND SHARING tools and reference documents on a global scale
